JANUS

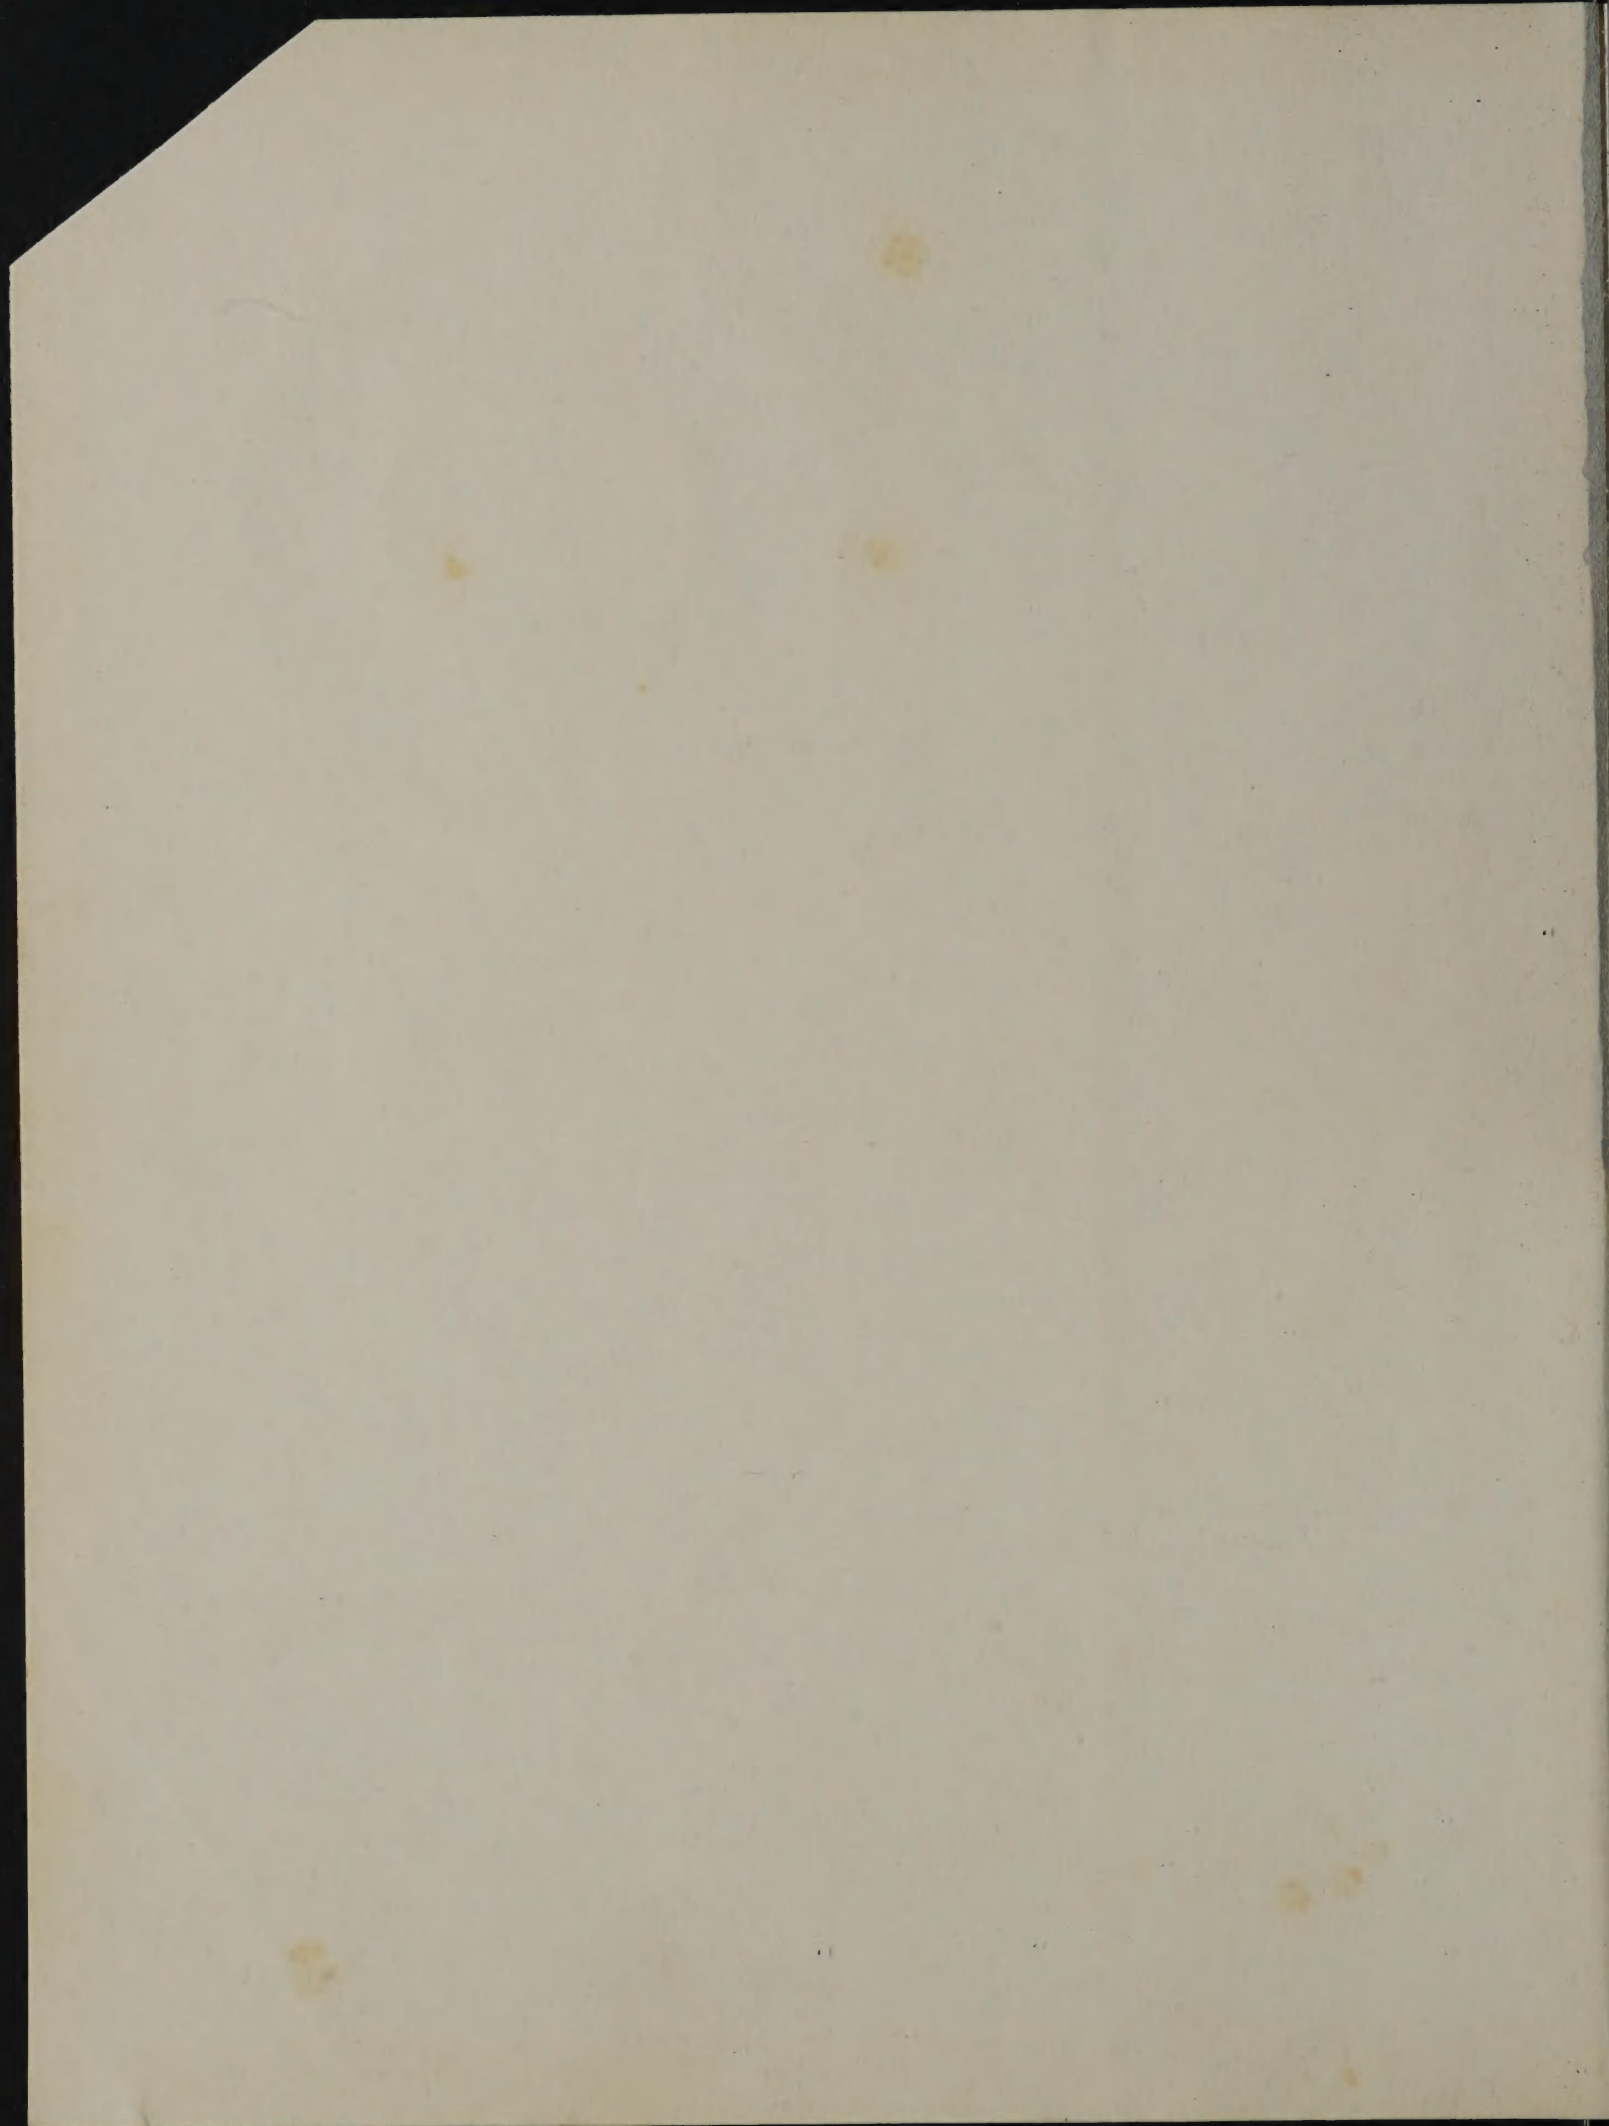

*As we look back upon our golden years
The memories of happy days we spent
Flow through our minds like shining souvenirs.*

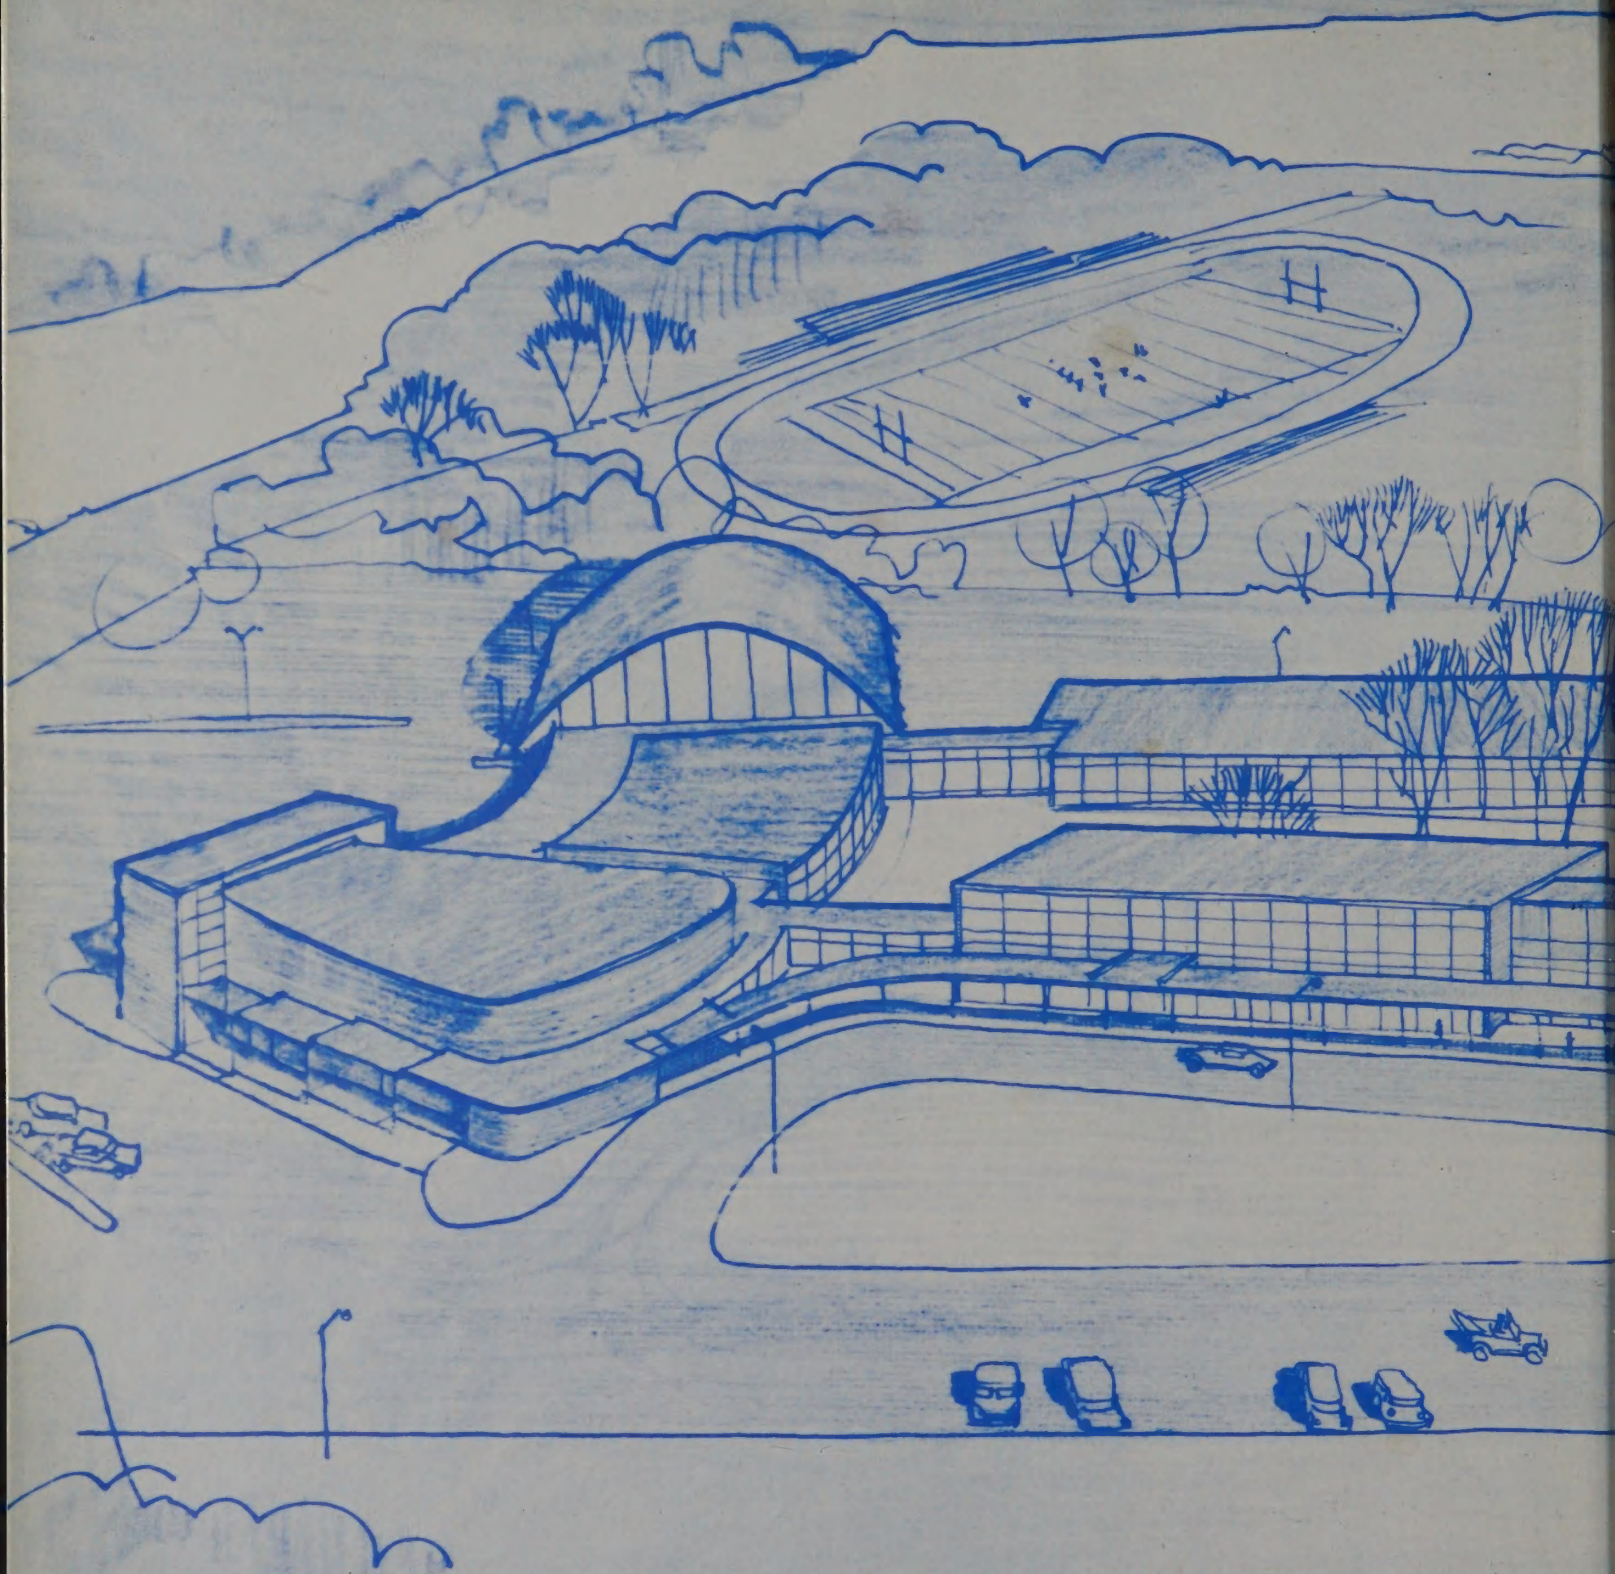

The Buzz Shop, the students' store, symbolic of school and holiday spirit, will long remain in our memories—the buying of bus tickets and school supplies, the showing of the latest styles, the many attractive displays, and the courteous service of students of Distributive Education; all are a part of the passing but remembered scene of happy days at East Hartford High School.

Memories

As we look back upon our golden years
 The memories of happy days we spent
 Flow through our minds like shining souvenirs.
 When we remember teachers who have meant
 To us the guides to knowledge and to light,
 We call to mind the burning of the midnight oil
 In lamps that gleamed and shone into the night.
 The memories of classes and their toil
 Have mingled in our minds with those of friends
 That we have made; of happy times at all
 The concerts, dances, and the games; of ends
 Of sad and gay events in class and hall.
 The shining souvenirs of high school days
 Remain with us: the future meets our gaze.

To You

For the matchless opportunities for accomplishment you have provided for us,

For the immeasurable knowledge that we have gained from within your walls,

For all the memories that you have given us — the classrooms buzzing with recitations, the corridors filled with laughter and chatter, the cheerful and bustling cafeteria,

We, the Class of 1959, dedicate our yearbook to you, our school.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

OUR SCHOOL BOARD

The ability of our Board of Education to plan ahead for the growth of East Hartford's school population has kept us from having to operate on a double-session school day. The Board's foresight has made it possible for our large student body and faculty to expand into a new and beautiful room wing in 1959.

Not content with present and past achievements and realizing that the quality of East Hartford's future citizens rests in part on the quality of their education, our School Board is constantly looking to the future for the improvement of educational opportunities for its school citizens.

School Board members attend Honor Society Induction. L-R: Mr. Dillon, Principal; Mrs. Elliott, Honor Society Adviser; Mrs. Piller and Mrs. Mortimer, Board Members, and Mr. Zervas, Co-Adviser of Honor Society.

With foresight

OUR SUPERINTENDENT

Working with the Board of Education, Mr. Paquette, principals and supervisors of the many schools of East Hartford, our Superintendent, Dr. Langford, has striven to make our school facilities and curriculum second to none in the state.

We, with a realization of the magnitude of the duties imposed upon our superintendent with the growth of East Hartford's schools, are ever grateful for his time, energy, and enthusiasm for East Hartford's educational advancement.

Nearest and dearest to our memories of Dr. Langford are his visits to our high school. As seniors of '59 we were especially moved by his message to us at our Honor Society Induction.

East Hartford's schools with their ample and qualified personnel are a tribute to the untiring efforts of Dr. Langford.

OUR ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

Mr. Francis Paquette, our assistant to Dr. Langford is responsible for the efficient operation of the business, custodial, and secretarial departments of the schools of East Hartford.

So well kept has been our present building under the supervision of Mr. Paquette, that the new wing does not look like a later addition, but a part of the original building.

We thank you Mr. Paquette for your part in the fine condition of our well-equipped and comfortable building.

OUR PRINCIPAL

As seniors of 1959 we have seen graduating classes grow from 200 to 400. We have seen our principal handle this growth each year with the same competence and leadership.

Despite the size of our school, Mr. Dillon has found time to maintain the same personal relationship with the students. Each day we see Mr. Dillon in the halls. He finds time to have individual conferences with us concerning school matters.

Under Mr. Dillon's leadership, we have benefited from changes and improvements that have kept us abreast of the increasing demands of the colleges and occupational world.

Mr. Dillon finds time from his busy day to discuss plans for Janus advertising campaign with Jane Ridder and Elaine Pillar.

Mr. Dillon and Miss Larrabee present National Council of Teachers of English Writing Award to Susan Hansen.

Mr. Dillon accepts Nativity Scene from members of the Daughters of Isabella. L-R: Mrs. Mortimer, Mr. Dillon, Mrs. Oleson, and Mrs. Bunn.

OUR SECRETARIES

Our spensible and efficient secretarial staff, headed L. Mr. Robert, is responsible for the behind-the-scenes smooth operating of our school. Our five secretaries expertly handle incoming and outgoing written and verbal correspondence, and keep the many records necessary for East Hartford's 2,000 students and 95 teachers.

Daily homeroom bulletins and absentee notices for every room in the school, as well as the announcements over the public address system, are but a few reminders to the students of the work of our office staff.

Guidance helps to chart our course

"Where is a small accredited co-ed school that doesn't cost too much?" "Does any supermarket want a clerk?" "Should I choose two years of French or Spanish?" The answers to these and countless other inquiries connected with job placement, colleges, and the courses we select, have been given to us with patience and skill by the guidance department.

Since our freshman days our guidance counselors have endeavored to help each student spend his time wisely for his own benefit and the benefit of mankind. As students we have learned the basic importance of juggling 24 hours a day to include studies, athletics, and other social activities.

Through guidance we have come to know ourselves better. Each student has been given a series of tests to pinpoint his interests, strengths, and weaknesses. By examining the results of these tests our guidance counselors help us decide the vocations for which we are best suited.

An excellent service of job placement is available to all students through the efforts of the guidance department. They help to find a means of earning those all-important dollars which are welcome to the tight budgets of any high school student. Whether our problems concern the present or the future, the guidance department is always willing to assist with their experience, competence, and understanding.

Our English Classes

After four years of required English, we are all familiar with compound sentences, Tressler's books, oral reports, English and American literature, and term papers. We have gained a better understanding and usage of our written and spoken language.

In our freshman year we tried to diagram sentences and conquer all parts of speech. At this time we also started to read the plays of Shakespeare. In our sophomore year, we attempted to further our skills in writing and reading, and our teachers learned much about us from the auto-

Books, books, and more books — that's our library. Be it one on ancient Greece, an atomic submarine, modern art, the latest Saturday Review or a Marquand novel, or even a current issue of a newspaper in a foreign language, it's in our library where Mrs. Walsh and her able library assistants so willingly help us locate what we want.

We learned from Mrs. Walsh the mysteries of the Dewey decimal system, the use of the card catalogue, and the rules of the library.

Thus instructed on how to find any type of books or periodical, we learned not only how to use the school library but any public library as a means of enriching our leisure time and increasing our knowledge.

Magazines for information and pleasure are found in the library.

Keeping abreast of changing times

Our world of constant political upheaval and changing social conditions makes it necessary, now more than ever, for us to have a good understanding of our environment. The expert social studies department at our school helps us to gain knowledge of current affairs as well as giving the background for the understanding of our environment.

As Freshmen, we learned numerous facts about our town and state. Many enrolled in Modern History or Problems of Democracy courses in their sophomore, junior, and senior years. In these subjects we learned of the current events of the time, their relation to us, and how we could better the world as good citizens.

United States History, a required subject for all, taught us how our nation developed and progressed and about its present status in the changing times of our world.

The social studies department has helped the students of our school to be well informed about the past, present, and most important, the future.

East Hartford's answer to Sputnik

Intrigued by the structure of the atom, fascinated by the pendulum, and perhaps a little squeamish at the idea of dissecting a frog, we delved into the mysteries of the universe, oblivious to the pungency of chlorine, the delicacy of a scale, or even the thickness of our textbooks.

Long will we remember our confusion upon entering our first science class not knowing what to expect, and to our amazement finding a vastly interesting and informative subject. While we did not learn how to launch a satellite or make an atomic bomb, science has given us the answers to many of the questions that we encountered in our high-school years.

We become linguists

High school meant many new things to us. For many of us it meant our first contact with a foreign language other than "Parlez-vous francais?" As seniors the sight of freshmen wandering through the halls muttering "hic, haec, hoc" under their breaths brings back memories of our early struggles with Latin. In our sophomore year we branched out into Spanish and French. We took pride in reciting our first phrases of a modern language to anyone who would listen, especially our long-suffering parents.

New languages made us more aware of the existence of other peoples whose way of life differs from our. They also aided us in the grammatical construction and the derivation of our own language.

Mathematics—from arithmetic to calculus

Math at East Hartford High has meant four years for most of us. Whether we started with Practical Math or Algebra I, we began an accumulative study which would undoubtedly benefit us in later years.

Some of us soon became acquainted with the principles of Plane Geometry and then in the junior year, Algebra II. In Algebra II, more complicated aspects of the subject are introduced. Next came Trigonometry which was followed by Solid Geometry. Trigonometry includes the basic principles of Algebra and Plane Geometry with a concentration on the triangle, while Solid Geometry combines the principles of Plane Geometry with a new concept, depth. Also, we are given a taste of college mathematics in our Introductory Calculus course.

Realizing that all employed in the business world are not apt in all skills, the Business Department offers an opportunity for specialization by permitting students to major in the secretarial, clerical, bookkeeping or distributive education sequences.

Without post-high school training, East Hartford's graduates are prepared to take good jobs immediately upon graduation. East Hartford students are well represented in insurance

Industrial Arts for vocation or avocation

Everybody's busy, everybody's zestfully making something. It must be fun to study one of the many courses offered in the Industrial Arts Department, which leads to preparation for a vocation or a hobby.

Exploratory courses and courses on an advanced level may be elected in woodworking, electronics, graphic arts, metal work, and drafting.

Homemaking II included the studies of nutrition, textiles and grooming. For our last Homemaking course many of us elected Marriage and Family Living or Home Planning and Decorating.

Their music fills the air

During our four years at East Hartford High School most of us have been fortunate enough to have taken at least one music course.

Those who played in the Band and Orchestra know the feeling of accomplishment which comes when after many attempts, one finally succeeds in faultlessly playing a piece. Band members will recall with pride the very cold day they marched onto a muddy field hearing the cheers of the East Hartford fans when they started to play. This same feeling of pride wells up in the members of a vocal group when they know that they have put themselves entirely into a song, and before they can sing the last note, the audience bursts into applause.

Those who chose Theory or Appreciation know the satisfaction felt the first time they took a perfect melodic dictation or the first time they were able to recognize Mozart or Beethoven.

Music at East Hartford High School has come to mean more than a series of sharps and flats; it is recognized as an art which when pursued results in a genuine sense of achievement and appreciation.

Physical Education for health, coordination and fun

Dash in the locker room, rip off your clothes, don your wrinkled gym suit, and scramble up stairs to be checked for attendance and preparation! After this operation is completed you may take a trot around the track and then you go upstairs to a very exciting game of basketball. Following your game you run down stairs, take a hot or cold shower, dress without drying, and run to your next class—if you want to get there on time.

Physical education taught us more than how to run the four-minute mile in three. We learned valuable skills and developed much needed coordination.

Physical education was indeed a welcome respite from the physical inactivity of classroom subjects.

Dietician, Nutritional Adviser, Co-ordinator of the use of the Cafeteria.

We wonder how Mrs. Patterson and her crew can serve the delicious and piping hot food to so many students and faculty members in such a short time.

With food that resembles home cooking more than institutional food, and with a menu that offers the variety of a restaurant, East Hartford students are fortunate to be a part of the services provided by our cafeteria.

WEBSTER BURNHAM
Head Custodian

Clean blackboards, well stocked cabinets, and shining floors are all the results of the hard work of Mr. Burnham and his custodial staff. Working round the clock and through the year, they always manage to keep our school and grounds looking spotless and running efficiently.

Mrs. Nolan, loved by all at E.H.S., is an angel in the halls, always smiling, always cheerful, and always helpful. Whether there be rain or shine outside, our corridors are continually filled with the sunny smiles of Mrs. Nolan.

A Senior's Souvenirs

As we look onward to the future and outward to life with hope, courage, and determination, we begin to realize the brevity and happiness of our high school days.

Some of the souvenirs of our past four years are the education we have experienced and the memories that will linger in our minds wherever we go. Being the largest class thus far to graduate from East Hartford High School, we shall always remember the part we played in the growth of our school which culminated in the addition of a new wing in our senior year.

The patience, the guidance, and the opportunities that were offered to us by our understanding administration, faculty, and class advisers will be always appreciated and remembered by us. Through these educators the foundation of our lives has been molded.

The numerous senior activities that we will never forget, the honors awarded to the members of our class, the satisfaction of our accomplishments, the regrets of opportunities neglected, along with the deep feeling of sadness and joy intermingled with our graduation, are all a cherished segment of our lives.

To incoming classes, our message is that opportunity awaits you: Make use of it. Be proud of East Hartford High School and create happy and satisfying memories to take with you.

Memories of
Our underclassmen, their officers and executive boards.

Juniors prepare to accept the responsibilities of leadership

As we approach our senior year, we look back to this first successful year as upperclassmen. This year brought many new responsibilities to us, and we have met them with true school spirit.

Next year we will be seniors—the graduating class of 1960. Our success next year and in the future years depends upon our continuing to meet new responsibilities with the same enthusiasm and spirit we have shown in the past. We look forward to maintaining our leadership in East Hartford High School both academically and socially.

Sophomores attain status of upperclassmen

As Sophomores at East Hartford High we begin to realize the role that these four years of education will play in our future. With two years of experience behind us, we must continue to do our best to improve ourselves and the class of 1961.

While we prepare ourselves for the part of upperclassmen, we must remember the responsibility that will rest on our shoulders. We will have to uphold the name of the school, strive to better our class, and set an example for the future underclassmen of our school—but most important, we must prepare ourselves for the bigger responsibilities of the coming years.

—John Perra

Freshmen Strive to Uphold Traditions

We first entered the doors of East Hartford High School with a bit of anxiety (although we would never have admitted it) and with much anticipation. Our reception by the upper classmen and the faculty was such that we soon felt that we belonged.

As the year progressed we became aware of the many facilities and opportunities available for those who wished to take advantage of them and realized the necessity of really buckling down to work.

We will strive to uphold the good reputation of previous classes and to make the record of our class one of which to be proud.

Janus staff makes memories tangible

Responding to the challenge of the excellence of last year's year-book, our staff has spent countless hours in trying to bring to you an even better version of the Janus.

We realized that our main job was to capture in this book, through pictures and words, the memories that we have of our high school days. With 208 pages to work with, the staff and tireless advisers spent many hours in assembling the embodiment of our memories: photographs of classmates, faculty, and activities. If we have succeeded in bringing to your mind happy memories of your high school days, then our work was not in vain, and we have achieved our goal.

We are proud to present to you the 1959 Janus.

Honor Society gives leadership and service

The Tucker Chapter of the National Honor Society at East Hartford High School is an honorary society whose criteria for admission are leadership, scholarship, service, and citizenship. This year's group has excelled in each field, especially in the group service projects. The Honor Society helped teachers and students by tutoring pupils needing additional aid, and they assisted the guidance department by helping underclassmen with their program of studies. A new service of the Honor Society this year was a compiling of a list of colleges in this area for the use of underclassmen.

Student Council: the voice of the students

Every homeroom at East Hartford High sends one representative to the Student Council which in this manner becomes the democratic voice of the whole student body. Through the discussion of topics which concern the students and faculty, the Student Council fosters harmonious relations throughout the school.

In addition to encouraging student leadership and school spirit, it controls the operation of all extra-curricular activities and maintains the Student Activity budget.

The Student Council is supervised by Mr. Brairton, assisted by Miss Cleary.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB SINGS AT CHRISTMAS CONCERT

Lilting voices and resounding instruments bring pleasure to all

As one walks through the corridors of East Hartford High's music wing, one can not help noticing the many activities being enjoyed by all participants in the music program. Walking past the auditorium, one might hear the Boys' Glee Club practicing their "What shall I sing today?" exercises, or the choir putting the finishing touches on music that shows their well-blended voices. The band room will be heard resounding with the soothing tones of the orchestra, or the peppy beat of the band. The practice rooms are alive with scales, arpeggios, or even concertos being practiced by the avid music students.

The whole school has enjoyed the performances given by the members of the various music organizations, including the Girls' Ensemble and the Boys' Quartet.

Masquers and Thespians: act well your

Acting is not the only technique required for membership in the Masquers. Many members are chosen because of their interest in the behind-the-scenes activities, learning the techniques of staging, lighting, and makeup.

"But all the world's a stage" . . . and suddenly with initial shyness gone, a member finds he'd like to try the technique of "acting," and there he is, listening to the plaudits of other members, teachers, and friends, for a part "well-done."

part; therein all honor lies

Activities for the year include membership tea, Thespians banquet, Christmas tableaux, Contest Play, "Fog in the Valley," which ranked second in Regional and State Competition. The major production was "Death Takes a Holiday" which called upon the "best" in each actor and work behind the scenes.

The curtain rings down on the year 1958-59 with the annual picnic at Ocean Beach held late in May.

Pilot provides news and views

A monthly publication of all student activities is the popular and much read Pilot. The school newspaper, made available through the efforts of an industrious staff of reporters, editors, copy writers, typists, and advisers, informs the East Hartford High School student of future activities in clubs and sports, highlights social events, calls attention to scholastic news, is spiced with feature articles and provides the utmost in journalistic reading enjoyment.

Members of the student body who are interested in journalism or its aspect may become members of the Pilot staff.

Language clubs acquaint us with foreign nations and their customs

The language clubs at East Hartford High School serve a two-fold purpose. The first one is to arouse interest in the languages themselves, and the second is to allow enjoyment of the customs and cultures of the respective countries.

The debating club, which helps us to use our own language more agilely, develops many fine speakers and teaches them to discuss current topics logically and intelligently. The members of this club develop leadership as well as reasoning.

Students give service to school

Student service clubs are beneficial to both the individual and to the school. Members of the varied service clubs at East Hartford High augment the operational capacity of the school and develop efficiency through their work. The Audio-Visual Aids program supplies classrooms with documentary films and a competent member of the club to operate the necessary equipment.

The Library Assistants aid in the efficient function-

Cheerleaders, Drill Team, Baton Squad: the nucleus of school spirit

Spunk, enthusiasm, and intense school spirit are the qualifications of a good cheerleader, and our cheerleaders at East Hartford High have an abundance of all these qualities. Through their efforts at all of our football and basketball games both the team and our rooters have been inspired to do their best.

The twirling exhibitions of our Baton Squad have proved to be a highlight of this year's events. These girls are experts at the art.

Our East Hartford High School Drill Team, one of the few in the state, has been a hit at its every appearance during the halftime activities of football and basketball games and other events. The professional manner in which they perform their intricate routines is a marvel to behold.

Cheerleaders achieve perfection by hours of practice.

The fast-moving, hard-hitting East Hartford High football team banged its way to a 5 won, 2 lost, 1 tie, record this season.

The powerful Hornets with early season injuries battled all the way. The bruising tackles and blocks of Co-Captain Ray Morin were lost in the early part of the schedule. Our other two Co-Captains, Dave Sequist and Ed Rucci were stalwart throughout the bruising year. Brilliant line play by guards

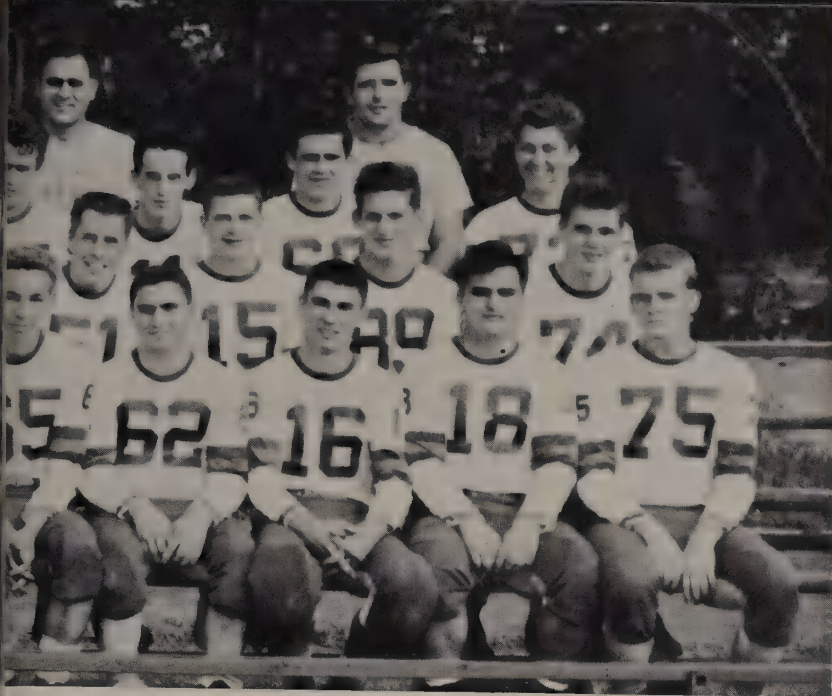

Rucci carries the ball for another Hornet first down.

Merrill Thoreson and Al Pelligrinelli, tackles Fran Hutt and Tom Jamroga, center Vern Parent, and end Billy DiNeno, sparkled through victory or defeat. Outstanding senior backfield men were guided by quarterback Don Chomick, Pete Wlochowski, fleet-footed halfback, and Charlie Toce, valiant hard-hitting fullback, were the sources of many Hornet points. In Coach Giardi's eyes, the season was a success. He feels that this team was among the best that he has worked with.

Bright future is in sight for Hornets

"Wait 'til next year," is an oft repeated statement in sports, but it seems to describe the 1958-59 Hornet Basketball Team exactly. The Wisemen, though not posting a winning record, are a young team, and one to be looked for in the future.

The team, led by Junior Captain Kurt Kilty, will have four of the starting five wearing the blue and whites again next year. The only loss to the starting team will be George Penney. The Senior forward leaves some big shoes to be filled, but there are many capable reserves with the varsity and Junior Varsity to take up the slack.

This year's club has had better balance, scoring-wise, than any East Hartford team in the last six years. Four men, Kurt Kilty, George Penney, Fran Sullivan, and Dick Besette, are over the century mark in point making, and Kurt is in the 250 point range.

Two other seniors that will be missed are versatile Vern Parent and quick thinking Pat Kenyon. But with the likes of Besette, Sullivan, Dick Pratt, John Cavanaugh, Dave Molumphy, and Kilty, the team looks for better things to come.

Whatever the future holds, no one knows. But one thing is certain: the picture is brightening on the "Hardwood Court" at East Hartford High.

Two points by Sullivan.

Boys' Leaders sponsor Tumbling Team

Selling refreshments at sports affairs for the S.A.A. fund and sponsoring the tumbling team are two of the functions of the B.L.C. The outstanding performance of the tumbling team at basketball halftime is the evidence of the growth and development of the team coached by Mr. Meyers.

Pete Wlochowski, Co-captain, shakes hands with out-going captain Henry Jackson.

The 1958 track team, under the outstanding leadership of Henry Jackson and the fine coaching of Mr. Carey and Mr. Giardi, finished its season with a brilliant 7 and 1 record, losing only one dual meet to New Britain High, which was considered to be the best team in the state.

The past performances of Dave Sequist with the shot put, Vern Parent and Cliff Sielitzsky in the high jump events, Ray Morin with the javelin, Al Pelligrinelli with the discus, and Bill Maroon in the pole vaulting event, show promise of another fine season in the field events department.

The outlook in the running events is just as bright since the 1959 track team is bolstered by two of the fleetest boys in the Hartford area, Lester Bell and Pete Wlochowski. Sturdy Merrill Thoreson and Jay Flanagan will handle the distance races along with junior Ken Nelson. Returning lettermen Ed Rucci, Bill DiNeno, and Chad Willis are insurance of a bright future for the 1959 track team. Senior Pete Bjarkman and junior Bill Baron are two other workers that show promise.

Hard work equals steady progress for baseball team

The 1958 Hornet baseball team finished its season with a record of 7 wins and 8 losses. Under the coaching of Mr. Jackson and the leadership of Bill Kamerer the team met some tough competition. Although they faced this competition with fine spirit and the will to win, it was not enough to combat the unfortunate string of bad luck.

Mr. Jackson has a lot to look forward to this coming season. With Len Rock, being voted captain of the '59 team, leading the way, East Hartford will be one of the top teams in the district. Along with Len, lettermen Kurt Kilty, Paul Brown, Don Hersey, Pat Kenyon, and Butch Hutt should prove to be a big factor in making this possible.

GOLF

Mr. Blount, coach of the golf team, and Art Jacobs, the captain and the "backbone" of the team, have built up an improved array of fine golfers. Two freshmen, Tom Kirby and Dave Melody, were assets to the team because of their fine play. John Cavanaugh also played many good games for the team.

GOLF TEAM

TENNIS

Mr. Bowden, tennis coach, enjoyed a good season with the help of Donald Flanagan and other new and improved players. Among the missing this year were Jack Baily and Bill Ramsey, the number one and two men, respectively. Frank Crowley, Doug Fitts, and Ken Gray aided the team. Lester Welles and Joseph Lozis can be depended upon to give their all for the team.

Harriers complete successful season

The hustling Hornet Harriers, led by many newcomers and underclassmen, posted a won and lost record of 5 & 4. The senior Co-Captains, Jay Flanagan and Chad Willis, had been running with the Varsity for three years and two juniors, Ken Nelson and Bill Baron, had received valuable experience with the Varsity the year before.

During the season, many young sophomores improved enough to become Varsity members. These runners gained the experience of Varsity competition, helpful to them in the future.

The Hornets, besides finishing with a 5 & 4 record, also ran in the annual big meets in the State. When they were at their peak, the team finished 3rd in the Greater Hartford meet. In this meet, three out of the first five finishers wore the blue and whites of East Hartford. This is quite an accomplishment considering there were 50 runners in the race. In the Eastern Sectional Meet, held yearly at the University of Connecticut, the boys finished in 4th position out of the 26 teams entered. In the state meet, the Hornets finished 12th out of 41 teams running, but had to run without the services of their number two man, Bill Baron. This could have made the difference of eight places.

With five of the team's top seven runners returning, and some good talent moving up from the Junior Varsity team, the prospects for next season look promising for Coach McCabe.

The co-captains elected for next year's squad are Ken Nelson and Bill Baron.

The Junior Varsity posted a fine 7-2 record, while placing 2nd in the Greater Hartford meet and 3rd of 26 teams in the Sectionals at the University of Connecticut.

Girls' Athletic Council and Girls' Leaders,

Annually elected managers of the various sports and team captains and co-captains, participate as members of the Girls' Athletic Council. This coordinating aspect of girls' sports plays a vital part in planning the extra-curricular sports program at E.H.S.

Among its activities is the production of Sport Night and the presentation of two assemblies. The theme of the fall program is the introduction of managers, and the spring assembly is for the presenting of awards.

Advisors of this club are Mrs. Rohan, Mrs. Cunningham and Mrs. Corbett.

"Squad A report" is a familiar sound often heard from the girl in the white gym suit, a member of Girls' Leaders Club and an example of excellence in leadership and helpfulness. To become a member of the G.L.C., sophomore and junior girls must take a qualifying exam composed of theoretical and practical knowledge of sports, and then be interviewed by the Club.

Activities of this organization include assisting during gym classes, selling refreshments at football games, and holding a picnic in the spring.

Advisors to G.L.C. are Mrs. Rohan, Mrs. Corbett and Mrs. Cunningham.

Sport Night, a night to remember

Shining flashlights and resounding voices—a sight and experience we shall never forget, when on April 10 the Red and Gold teams followed tradition by marching into the gymnasium to commence the 19th annual G.A.C. Sport Night. Gold Team members, led by Captain June Bray and Co-captain Sue Fiske, and Red Team, led by Beverly Girodano, Captain, and Lonnie Carlson, Co-captain, wearing glittering ribbons to signify to which team they belonged, demonstrated talents and accomplishments in gymnastics, folk-dancing, tumbling, apparatus and balance beams during this memorable night. Skills in volleyball and basketball were displayed during the competitive games between the two teams.

Girls enjoy complete sports program

Many activities, both outdoor and indoor, not included in Sport Night, comprise an important part of the girls' extra-curricular sports program at East Hartford High School. The Fall and Spring seasons see activity in such sports as archery, tennis, softball, badminton, bike hikes, and recently introduced soccer, while during the winter the girls spend their time at swimming, bowling, and ping pong. Also included in this program are a number of play days in which the girls participate with students of other schools.

On hand to supervise these many activities are Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Corbett, and Mrs. Rohan, the girls' physical education instructors.

AU REVOIR...

This has been a great school year for you. It has been the same for us at the East Hartford Gazette, even though most of us graduated some years ago.

Our school year began with the wonderfully successful circulation drive by the seniors — more than 1,300 new subscriptions for us, more than $3,000 for the Senior Class Fund. The Gazette will always be indebted to the splendid job done by the class.

Our school year kept right on going with yours. We were there rooting with Ray Morin, Ed Rucci, and Dave Sequist and their teammates on the gridiron. We watched Frank Crowley and Fred Parker and many others make the honor roll. We nearly wore out Brian Embleton taking pictures of him tumbling. Of the 1,000 or more pictures we printed in the past year, more were taken in East Hartford High School than any other place.

Now we say good luck, but not good bye. To the seniors who are college bound, we hope they will find the Gazette a letter from home each week. To those who step immediately into the working life of East Hartford, we hope the Gazette will help them become increasingly familiar with their community. To the underclassmen who will return in the fall, the Gazette promises to be back on the job, telling in words and pictures what is probably the town's most dramatic continuous story — the growth in mind and spirit and body of the leaders of tomorrow.

Once more around the track, girls!

Memories are elusive in nature. They become enveloped in a haze of passing years and fade away to almost nothingness. As we pass on through life, our high school days and all the people and events now so near and dear to us will fade in our memories, to be thought of only occasionally and fleetingly. We who have worked on the Janus have striven to make it a pictorial storehouse, so that in future years a scanning of its pages will clear the haze surrounding your memories and help you to relive some of your happiest moments. With the memories of these past four years and the lessons we learned while gleaming them still firmly implanted in our minds, we set out to meet a challenging future.

We close our book with a sincere expression of gratitude to all those who helped to make its publication possible: the advisers who spent numberless hours; the editors and their staff members who worked diligently and proficiently; our administration and faculty without whose cooperation and understanding this momentous task could not have been accomplished; the student body who so willingly and patiently posed for the many pictures; Loring Studio, always present on a moment's notice to photograph us at our many activities; O'Toole and Sons, who published our book; and our advertisers and patrons without whose financial contribution the publication of the Janus would not have been possible.
